INTRODUCTION

Photography is an illusion. It is amazing that human beings consider a photograph to be a representation of reality. As photographers, I think we are privileged to work in the medium that has such powerful illusionistic characteristics. I clearly remember the first photographic exhibition I attended more than thirty years ago. Seeing those photographs changed not only my photography, but changed my life. The three photographers in the exhibition were Ansel Adams, Edward Weston, and Wynn Bullock. I had never seen works of art that were so inspiring. I still find beauty, power, and challenges in the black and white silver printing process, and continue to enjoy working within that magical medium. As the technology of photographic imaging evolves, it is exciting to see how the voice of photographers expressing themselves — whether with pixels or silver grains — still resonates in their prints.

The workshops included in this year's program will provide opportunities to learn from successful working photographers. The instructors and assistants will willingly share their experiences with you — both successes and mistakes — they have NO SECRETS. The workshops are an intense experience, in which one will be immersed in photography from early in the morning until late at night. You will be tired at the end of the workshop, but will be filled with information and inspiration.

All of us involved in this workshop program share the desire for creating an atmosphere of excitement, while providing you with the knowledge and motivation you need to transform your ideas into successful photographs. All of the workshops offer a combination of instruction in the aesthetic and technical considerations involved in making expressive photographs. The exploration of ideas and concepts, rather than dogma, will be emphasized in communicating information, thoughts, and perceptions in a comfortable, non-competitive environment. The workshops are intended for the individual who is seriously interested in an exploration of photography, and who is committed to actively participating and working at improving their craft, personal vision, and direction.

These workshops offer opportunities to receive instruction and inspiration from photographers of distinctive abilities, and are structured to allow for an intimate atmosphere, conducive to learning, sharing, and creativity. Directed outdoor photography sessions, portfolio reviews, informal discussions, along with instructor demonstrations and presentations, will be included in all workshops. I am looking forward to participating with some of you in our 2007–2008 workshop program!

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A very special thanks to the Eastman Kodak Company for its continuing dedication to photographic education, and their more than two decades of generous sponsorship of my workshops. In particular, I would like to express appreciation to Scott DiSabato for his commitment to this workshop program.

I have relied on Gitzo tripods to steadily support my cameras since 1983. My thanks to the Bogen Imaging team for their support of this workshop program. I express special thanks to Paul Wild, Justin Stailey, and Kriss Brunngraber.

I am most pleased to once again have Light Impressions as a workshop sponsor. For over thirty years Light Impressions has been dedicated to supplying archival products of the highest quality to photographers. In particular, I would like to thank Larry Proctor for his assistance and support over the years.

I am thrilled to again have OmegaSatter as a workshop sponsor. My Omega/LPL variable contrast enlargers have been valuable print making tools for more than a decade, and I have relied on my Jobo rotary processor for film developing since 1988. I would like to thank the OmegaSatter team for their support of my program.

It is a pleasure to have The Tiffen Company as a sponsor. Thanks to Steve Tiffen and Hilary Araujo. My Saunders enlarging easels, along with Tiffen filters, have been essential tools for over twenty-five years.

The assistance and expertise offered by Stephen Myrick and his team at Myrick Photographic is extraordinary, often involving ingenuity, exploration, and adventure in filling the unusual needs of creative photographers.

For nearly 30 years, I have worked closely with David Gray Gardner and Kevin Broady on the printing of my books, posters, and workshop brochures. It is a pleasure to work with them, and the dedicated team of skilled professionals at Dual Graphics, on the production of this brochure.

THE EXPRESSIVE BLACK AND WHITE PRINT

JOHN SEXTON

APRIL 10–15 OCTOBER 30–NOVEMBER 4 FEBRUARY 19–24, 2008 FEBRUARY 26–MARCH 2, 2008 APRIL 8–13, 2008

This extremely popular workshop has been offered for twenty-three consecutive years. Each session concentrates on darkroom demonstrations in the art of black and white printing by noted photographer John Sexton. Conducted in John's state-of-the-art studio and darkroom in the rolling hills of California, each intense workshop is limited to ten participants in order to maximize the benefit for all involved. Assisted by talented photographer, Anne Larsen, John demonstrates the decision-making process leading to the final print, including the Zone System of exposure and development, the production of high quality negatives, creative printing techniques, advanced print manipulation techniques, processing for permanence, and presentation of the finished print. Emphasizing the aesthetic considerations and consequences of each procedure, the well-organized, thorough demonstrations will include: determination of proper print exposure, variable contrast printing controls, advanced dodging and burning procedures, localized print flashing, local print reduction, localized selenium intensification of negatives, and much more.

Portfolio reviews will offer constructive evaluation of participants' prints and negatives, and discussions explore the possibilities involved in creating expressive prints. A directed field session on the spectacular Monterey Peninsula will allow participants to put new ideas into practice. In the popular, and unique, negative review session John will evaluate successful as well as problem negatives.

All applicants must have a working knowledge of black and white printing technique and should be actively involved in print making. Each workshop begins at 7:00 on Tuesday evening and ends about 1:00 on Sunday afternoon, and includes daily refreshment breaks and three meals. Five identical workshops are offered. If possible, please list alternate workshop dates when applying. Early enrollment is highly recommended as these workshops often fill immediately.

FEE: $800

Note: If you have attended this workshop previously and are thinking of repeating the experience, we encourage you to consider Fine Tuning the Expressive Print which, by popular demand, is offered as a continuation of this workshop, and John's workshops at Anderson Ranch Arts Center, The Maine Photographic Workshops, Palm Beach Photographic Workshops and the University of Wisconsin. The Fine Tuning workshop begins with a general review of ideas and procedures covered previously, before proceeding with more advanced concepts and techniques.

FINE TUNING THE EXPRESSIVE PRINT

JOHN SEXTON

NOVEMBER 13–18

A continuation and expansion of John's printing workshops, this outstanding workshop is being offered for the nineteenth consecutive year. This workshop is open only to those who have previously attended one of John's printing workshops listed in the margin. To receive optimum benefit from this workshop it is important that at least one year of active photography has taken place since attending the prerequisite workshop.

Following a brief review of topics and techniques covered in the prerequisite workshop, John will discuss and demonstrate additional advanced printmaking techniques, including: the effects of various developer formulas; simplified procedures that will demystify unsharp masking of negatives for local contrast and sharpness control; masked flashing for easier printing of difficult negatives; post processing negative enhancements; dye manipulation of negatives; handling problem negatives; along with many other printing and processing refinements.

Each participant will have the unique opportunity to print from one of John's negatives prior to the workshop as part of an exercise exploring the creative process of expressive printmaking. In addition, participants will need to bring work completed since their participation in the prerequisite workshop to share during the portfolio review sessions. The field session, as well as discussion sessions, will explore problems and questions encountered since the last workshop. All classroom and demonstration sessions will be held in John's darkroom and studio in Carmel Valley, California.

The workshop will begin at 7:00 on Tuesday evening, and will end about 1:00 on Sunday afternoon. The workshop fee will include daily refreshment breaks and four meals. Jack Waltman and Anne Larsen, both talented photographers, will serve as the workshop assistants. The workshop is limited to ten participants, and early enrollment is advised to avoid disappointment.

FEE: $875

Note: In order to enroll for this workshop you must have previously attended one of the following printing workshops with John: The Expressive Black and White Print at John's studio, Anderson Ranch Arts Center, The Maine Photographic Workshops, Palm Beach Photographic Workshops or the University of Wisconsin.

RECOLLECTIONS: THREE DECADES OF PHOTOGRAPHS

A NEW BOOK BY JOHN SEXTON

Ventana Editions published Recollections: Three Decades of Photographs in October 2006, and I am extremely pleased with the way the book turned out. The response to the book has been fantastic. The sales of both the hardcover edition and the Deluxe Limited Edition of Recollections have exceeded our expectations. Two of the four Deluxe Limited Edition images have already sold out, and a third image is nearly gone. The two images still available for order are White Boulder, Dead Horse Point — seen on this page, and Sandstone Forms reproduced on the Kodak sponsorship page.

I have received many complimentary e-mails and letters about Recollections. I have included below a few unsolicited comments from people who have purchased the book. You can find additional comments from purchasers, as well as photographic colleagues, at my web site.

The on-line Oxford Dictionary defines the word magnificent simply as “impressively beautiful;” where beauty is said to be “a combination of qualities that delights the aesthetic senses.” While both words come to mind in describing John Sexton’s new book, Recollections: Three Decades of Photographs, if we are to go by Oxford’s rather banal definitions, neither word even comes close to conveying the depths of visual and spiritual pleasures that await anyone who focuses their eye on the masterful black and white images assembled here... In short, a masterpiece! — Andrew Ilachinski, www.tao-of-digital-photography.com

Yesterday we received your book Recollections. What a glorious collection of images to enhance the world of fine art photography! One page is more spectacular than the other. In these days when traditional photography seems to be headed towards the sunset, your artistry promises a new sunrise. — Gordon & Marilyn, Idaho

I received your book Recollections recently. While I have all your books, this is the finest of all. The quality of printing, lithography, and binding is spectacular. I treasure your books as much as the books I have of Ansel Adams and Edward Weston. Your art has inspired me to work more diligently in my own photography. Thank you for making your photography available to all photographers and collectors. — Paul, Indiana

Autographed copies of Recollections can be ordered at discounted prices from the Ventana Editions online store: www.ventanaeditions.com or by phone at 888/390-4545 or 831/659-4377. Recollections is also available from many fine book sellers.

JOHN SEXTON DIRECTOR AND INSTRUCTOR

A former director of the Ansel Adams Workshops, and the Owens Valley Photography Workshops, John Sexton has conducted hundreds of photography workshops around the world. Respected as a photographer and printmaker, Sexton prefers to photograph the quiet message of his subjects, conveying his love of light. John's three previous books, Listen to the Trees, Quiet Light, and Places of Power showcase his finely crafted large format images, and have won numerous awards. John served as Technical and Photographic Assistant, and then consultant, to Ansel Adams from 1979 to 1984. He continues to serve as Photographic Special Projects Consultant to The Ansel Adams Publishing Rights Trust, and is a consultant to the photographic industry. In January 2005 John received a Lifetime Achievement Award from the North American Nature Photographers Association. In October 2006 John's most recent book, Recollections: Three Decades of Photographs, was published by Ventana Editions.

ANNE LARSEN WORKSHOP ASSISTANT

Anne Larsen received her formal photographic training in Denmark, where she worked as a successful photographer for one of the largest commercial studios in Copenhagen. In 1994 she moved to the United States, and has worked as John Sexton's Photographic Assistant since that time. She is actively involved in all of the workshops offered on this program. Her intimate still lifes and delicate photographs of the natural environment, all made with a 4x5" view camera, share a common luminosity and elegance. In addition to John's workshops, Anne has assisted on workshops instructed by James Baker, Morley Baer, Ruth Bernhard, Philip Hyde, and Ray McSavaney. Her prints are in numerous private and public collections in North America and Europe. Anne assists her husband, John Sexton, in all aspects of his photography.

JACK WALTMAN WORKSHOP ASSISTANT

Jack Waltman has been on the staff of numerous photography workshop programs, including the Friends of Photography, Owens Valley Photography Workshops, the University of California at Santa Cruz Extension, and the Ray McSavaney Photographic Workshops. His images often explore the abstract qualities found in the natural and urban environments. Jack has assisted John on the Fine Tuning the Expressive Print workshop since its inception. For more than two decades Jack has explored a variety of camera formats, but today he works almost exclusively with large format view cameras. In addition to his expertise in black and white silver printing, Jack has also investigated platinum-palladium printing and cyanotypes, as well as color imagery.
