INTRODUCTION

There have been many changes in the world of photography since I initially became interested in this magical medium. It was forty years ago that I first saw a print slowly emerge in a tray of developer in a friend's makeshift darkroom. A week later I purchased my own enlarger, and I continue to experience the alchemy and excitement of the process in my larger and more elaborate darkroom today. Whether photographers are working with traditional silver halide film and paper emulsions or using the latest technology, exposing pixels and working with a digital approach, the creative possibilities are only limited by the photographer's skills, dedication, and willingness to work. In all of my teaching I try to blend the technical language of photography with the expressive message of each photographer's voice. I look forward to sharing my love of the medium and the experience I've gained with the photographers who will be attending the workshops offered in this catalog.

The workshops included in this year's program will provide opportunities to learn from successful working photographers. The instructors and assistants will willingly share their experiences with you — both successes and mistakes — they have NO SECRETS. The workshops are an intense experience, in which one will be immersed in photography from early in the morning until late at night. You will be tired at the end of the workshop, but will be filled with information and inspiration.

All of us involved in this workshop program share the desire for creating an atmosphere of excitement, while providing you with the knowledge and motivation you need to transform your ideas into successful photographs. All of the workshops offer a combination of instruction in the aesthetic and technical considerations involved in making expressive photographs. The exploration of ideas and concepts, rather than dogma, will be emphasized in communicating information, thoughts, and perceptions in a comfortable, non-competitive environment. The workshops are intended for the individual who is seriously interested in an exploration of photography, and who is committed to actively participating and working at improving their craft, personal vision, and direction.

These workshops offer opportunities to receive instruction and inspiration from photographers of distinctive abilities, and are structured to allow for an intimate atmosphere, conducive to learning, sharing, and creativity. Directed outdoor photography sessions, portfolio reviews, informal discussions, along with instructor demonstrations and presentations, will be included in all workshops. I am looking forward to participating with some of you in our 2009–2010 workshop program!

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A very special thanks to the Eastman Kodak Company for its continuing dedication to photographic education, and their more than two decades of generous sponsorship of my workshops. In particular, I would like to express appreciation to Scott DiSabato for his commitment to this workshop program.

I have relied on Gitzo tripods to steadily support my cameras since 1983. My thanks to Gitzo and the Bogen Imaging team for their support of this workshop program. Special thanks to Paul Wild, Kriss Brunngraber, David Fisher, and Donna Narkiewicz.

I am most pleased to once again have Light Impressions as a workshop sponsor. For over thirty years Light Impressions has been dedicated to supplying archival products of the highest quality to photographers. In particular, I would like to thank Larry Proctor for his assistance and support over the years.

I am thrilled to again have OmegaSatter as a workshop sponsor. My Omega/LPL variable contrast enlargers have been valuable print making tools for more than a decade, and I have relied on my Jobo rotary processor for film developing since 1988. I would like to thank the OmegaSatter team for their support of my program.

It is a pleasure to have The Tiffen Company as a sponsor. Thanks to Steve Tiffen and Hilary Araujo. I have been using Tiffen filters with great results for over thirty years.

The assistance and expertise offered by Stephen Myrick and his team at Myrick Photographic is extraordinary, often involving ingenuity, exploration, and adventure in filling the unusual needs of creative photographers.

For more than 30 years, I have worked closely with David Gray Gardner and Kevin Broady on the printing of my books, posters, and workshop brochures. It is a pleasure to work with them, and the dedicated team of skilled professionals at Dual Graphics, on the production of this brochure.

THE EXPRESSIVE BLACK AND WHITE PRINT

JOHN SEXTON

APRIL 14-19, 2009 NOVEMBER 3-8, 2009 NOVEMBER 17-22, 2009 MARCH 9-14, 2010

This extremely popular workshop celebrates its twenty-sixth anniversary in 2009! Each of the four workshop sessions concentrates on darkroom demonstrations in the art of black and white printing by noted photographer John Sexton. Conducted in John's state-of-the-art studio and darkroom in the rolling hills of California, each intense workshop is limited to nine participants in order to maximize the benefit for all involved. Assisted by talented photographer, Anne Larsen, John demonstrates the decision-making process leading to the final print, including the Zone System of exposure and development, the production of high quality negatives, creative printing techniques, advanced print manipulation techniques, processing for permanence, and presentation of the finished print. Emphasizing the aesthetic considerations and consequences of each procedure, the well-organized, thorough demonstrations will include: determination of proper print exposure, variable contrast printing controls, advanced dodging and burning procedures, localized print flashing, local print reduction, localized selenium intensification of negatives, and much more.

Portfolio reviews will offer constructive evaluation of participants' prints and negatives, and discussions explore the possibilities involved in creating expressive prints. A directed field session on the spectacular Monterey Peninsula will allow participants to put new ideas into practice. In the popular and unique negative review session John will evaluate successful as well as problem negatives.

All applicants must have a working knowledge of black and white printing technique and should be actively involved in traditional darkroom print making. Each workshop begins at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday evening and ends about 1:30 p.m. on Sunday afternoon, and includes daily refreshment breaks and three meals during the workshop, along with a 100+ page workshop syllabus. Five identical workshops are offered. If possible, please list alternate workshop dates when applying. Early application is highly recommended as these workshops often fill quickly.

SOUTHWEST LANDSCAPE – A SENSE OF PLACE

RAY MCSAVANEY AND JOHN SEXTON

MAY 10–15, 2009

Centered in the heart of the Navajo Nation, this very popular workshop, co-sponsored by the Ray McSavaney Photographic Workshops, is offered for the twenty-second time. Although there are many workshops offered in the Southwest, few have been offered for as long as this popular event. A personal sense of place may evolve as we explore the relationships between the Navajo people and their land, the physical terrain and the constantly changing skies, the diverse cultures converging and co-existing amid the ever-present mysterious feelings of conflict and tranquility.

The workshop will begin Sunday morning at Canyon de Chelly, Arizona, where we will photograph the architectural remains of the ancient Anasazi cliff dwellings set in the magnificent sandstone alcoves. Midway through the workshop we will move north into Utah to visit the monolithic sandstone sculptures of Monument Valley and other nearby exciting, but less often visited, areas.

Specially arranged guided photographic tours, limited to our workshop group and designed for our specific needs, will allow us to visit areas not normally accessible. Stops made during these trips will allow ample time to explore the many photographic possibilities. In the land the Navajo people have loved for centuries, our personal and photographic sensibilities will be inspired and challenged to the fullest. The workshop will conclude late on Friday evening.

Lodging choices will be modern comfortable motels or campgrounds near each location. The workshop tuition includes all fees and gratuities for our special photographic tours, refreshment breaks, as well as two group meals in spectacular surroundings. Anne Larsen will be the assistant on this workshop. Since this workshop always fills quickly, early application is encouraged. Due to previous instructor commitments, the Southwest Landscape workshop will not be offered in 2010. If you wish to attend this workshop before 2011, when it may be offered again, it is suggested that you apply promptly.

INTRODUCTION TO THE FACULTY

JOHN SEXTON DIRECTOR AND INSTRUCTOR

A former director of the Ansel Adams Workshops, and the Owens Valley Photography Workshops, John Sexton has conducted hundreds of photography workshops around the world. Respected as a photographer and printmaker, Sexton prefers to photograph the quiet message of his subjects, conveying his love of light. John's three previous books, Listen to the Trees, Quiet Light, and Places of Power showcase his finely crafted large format images, and have won numerous awards. John served as Technical and Photographic Assistant, and then consultant, to Ansel Adams from 1979 to 1984. He continues to serve as Photographic Special Projects Consultant to The Ansel Adams Publishing Rights Trust, and is a consultant to the photographic industry. In January 2005 John received a Lifetime Achievement Award from the North American Nature Photographers Association. In October 2006 John's most recent award-winning book, Recollections: Three Decades of Photographs, was published by Ventana Editions.

RAY McSAVANEY INSTRUCTOR

For more than thirty years Ray McSavaney has explored various aspects of photography and the environment. A co-founder of the Owens Valley Photography Workshops, he initiated his own series of workshops in 1991, and has instructed, directed or been on the staff of more than 150 workshops. A book of his urban and natural landscape imagery, titled Explorations, was selected by the American Institute of Graphic Arts as "One of the Fifty Best Books of the Year." He is currently working on a project investigating ancestral sites of Native Americans. His work has been published in West of Eden: A History of the Art and Literature of Yosemite, View Camera, Outdoor Photographer, and numerous other publications, and can be found in many public and private collections.

ANNE LARSEN WORKSHOP ASSISTANT

Anne Larsen received her formal photographic training in Denmark, where she worked as a successful photographer for one of the largest commercial studios in Copenhagen. In 1994 she moved to the United States, and has worked as John Sexton's Photographic Assistant since that time. She is actively involved in all of the workshops offered on this program. Her intimate still lifes and delicate photographs of the natural environment, all made with a 4x5" view camera, share a common luminosity and elegance. In addition to John's workshops, Anne has assisted on workshops instructed by James Baker, Morley Baer, Ruth Bernhard, Philip Hyde, and Ray McSavaney. Her prints are in numerous private and public collections in North America and Europe. Anne assists her husband, John Sexton, in all aspects of his photography.
